Thank you to all who attended our latest festival. As the principal fund raiser for the club, your financial and personal contributions are greatly appreciated. The club strives to make worthwhile use of its available funds, and shall continue with that effort.

The club also wishes to thank each of the vendors that chose to participate in the clubs' efforts. Without you, the importance of our gathering would greatly diminish. The diversity that you offer to those in attendance is one of our greatest attractions.

To those who came to exhibit their personal wares, attend the scheduled forums or other presentations, or just to gather for this social occasion, we also extend a special thank you. Our hamfest, like any other, is the time and place for visits with persons of like interests, general conversation, to renew acquaintances or make new friends, and to place a face with a voice.
